New Entrance Signs

Thanks to Chris Rose for restoring and designing the new entrance signs.

New Entrance Signs

Some of you may remember the Entrance sign that was on the corner of the funeral home property. That sign was two sided. It has now been separated into two signs and restored. Our own Chris Rose is the artist who designed and conducted the restoration. This was a time consuming operation and Chris donated his time. Our only expense was the expensive paint necessary for a long term outside application. Chris moved to Florida with his family in 1972. They lived on Venus Street where they watched Apollo launches from the tar and gravel roof. He stayed in Merritt Island and had various jobs - boat builder, commercial lobster diver, butcher. Then in 1982, he started working at the space center for Boeing. Chris and his wife Pat have lived in Diana Shores on Saturn Street since 1983 and have successfully raised and educated three children. His love for the outdoors shows in his hobbies of fishing, diving, hunting, photography and art. We can all see his artistic talents on the entrance signs. Chris is now retired after 34 years, most as the operations manager for the international space station. He and his wife are now free to travel and they are often off on trips.
